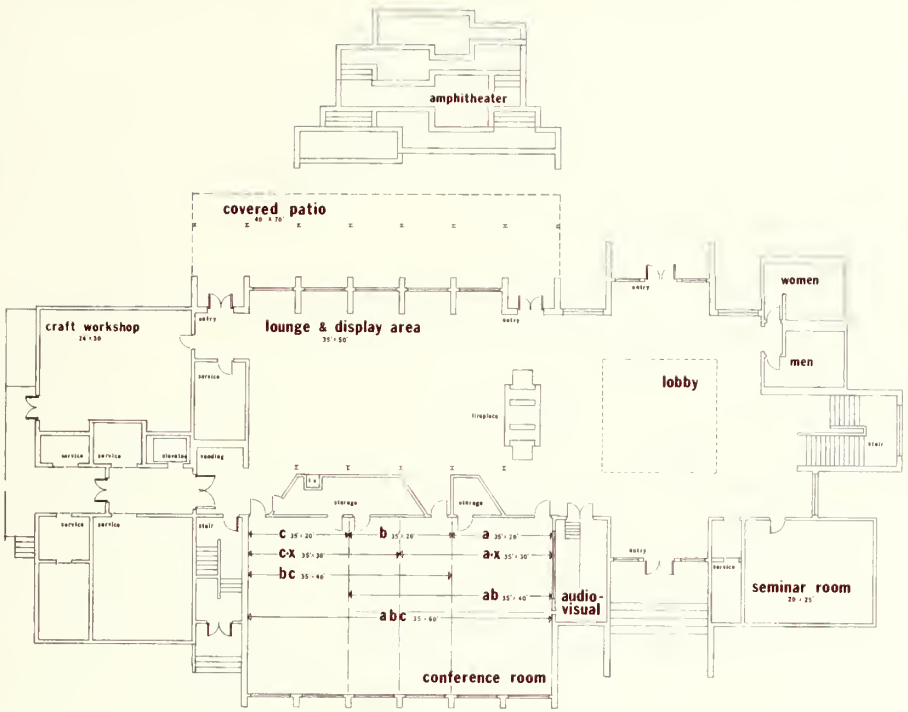
Unicoi Lodge/Conference Center

Unicoi State Park

Helen, Georgia

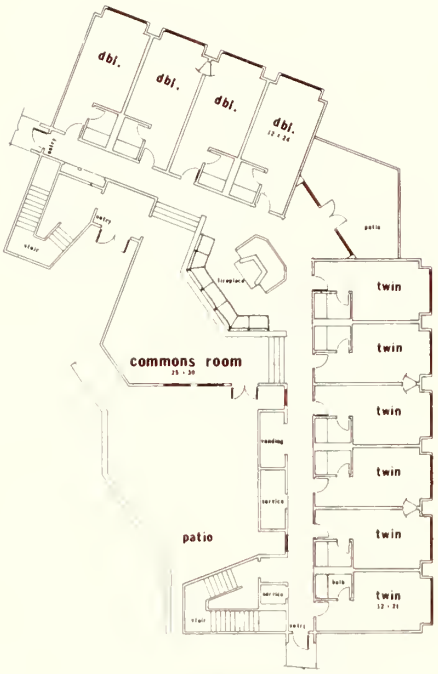
Unicoi Lodge and Conference Center is a unique meeting place due to a combination of modern conference facilities and recreational opportunities. The North Georgia mountain location provides a setting of scenic beauty and tranquil atmosphere for conferences of from 10 to 180 people. A full time conference staff coordinates and assists each group in planning meetings and seminars. From the moment you call to inquire about our facilities until your group's final meeting, one of our staff members will be working closely with you to insure your group a productive and pleasant Unicoi experience. Services include a full line of audio-visual equipment and conference supplies as well as a built-in sound system. Versatile, sound-proof rooms adjoin an attractive lobby area for relaxing during breaks or leisure time.

In the midst of 1000 acres of forest, criss-crossed with trout streams, Unicoi is a place to relax, a place to hike, swim, canoe or to just enjoy discovering nature at your own pace. Unicoi offers programs of participation and entertainment. Visitors may learn macrame', pottery or quilting as they acquaint themselves with the Appalachian heritage crafts. Or perhaps they would rather sit back and enjoy a toe-tapping blue grass music session. Unicoi is a friendly place where a group can meet to achieve their goals in an atmosphere of informality and kinship with their environment.



FIRST FLOOR - CONFERENCE CENTER

The first floor of each Lodging Cluster is comprised of twin and double rooms, while on the second floor, all rooms have carpeted sleeping lofts.



TYPICAL LODGE CLUSTER

Unicoi is open to conference groups and tourists year-round. Conference guests are housed in the lodging clusters adjacent to the Conference Center in cedar-paneled rooms overlooking the magnificent Chattahoochee National Forest. Three clusters of 20 rooms each, accommodate up to 230 guests at maximum occupancy. Each cluster is comprised of 6 rooms with two twin beds, 4 rooms with two double beds, 6 rooms with two twin beds and loft and 4 rooms with two double beds and loft. Each of the 60 tastefully decorated rooms offers telephone and individual climate control for the guest. Loft rooms are well suited to families with children or to very agile adults.

The focal point of each cluster is the spacious Commons Room and fireplace. Groups renting an entire lodging cluster may find the Commons Room just right for informal get-togethers or small seminars.

Unicoi's restaurant, located in the Conference Center, is open daily year round. The restaurant specialty, mountain trout, is only one of the many delicious entrees offered. Restaurant service is buffet or ala carte at reasonable prices. Unicoi's Conference Staff and Food Service Director will assist groups in planning menus to meet the occasion, be it a formal banquet or a cook-out at the Unicoi Beach House overlooking the lake. Conference groups can be served privately or in the restaurant.

Also located in the Conference Center is the Unicoi Craftshop. The handwork of Appalachian artisans, representative of a nearly forgotten culture can be seen or purchased in the craftshop.

Unicoi State Park began as an experiment in recreation; an experiment which has proven that environmental and ecological cost can be minimal when land use is planned, controlled and monitored. The park offers camping, family cottages, picnic areas and beaches for the visitor's enjoyment; in addition to the Lodge and Conference Center. In 1976 Unicoi State Park was chosen as a Horizons on Display site by the HUD Bi-Centennial Commission.

In the surrounding area, attractions include the Alpine Village of Helen, canoeing or rafting on the white waters of the Chattahoochee and Chattooga rivers, visiting Dahlonega, scene of the first gold strike in the United States or hiking on the Appalachian Trail.
